TROOPER BILLY — Kalem Feature

A Stirring Two Part Feature Adapted From Frederick Paulding's Great Play. There's an Indian attack on a stockade in this picture that is the most realistic battle ever attempted. The clash of bodies, the hand-to-hand struggle, the straining and grappling for victory, the climax occurs in the staging of one of the most realistic knife duels ever seen. It is a picture you can't afford to miss seeing.

Featuring Carlyle Blackwell and Jane Wolfe.

WOULD RECLAIM WAYWARD YOUTH

Parent Teachers' Association to Take a Hand in Caring for Boys who Get Beyond Control of Parents and School Authorities.

Another step forward in the betterment of conditions for children in Gettysburg was taken on Friday evening by the Parent Teachers Association when the officers of the organization were authorized to look after incorrigible children and to endeavor to secure their commitment to some institution other than the usual State reformatories.

The specific case which brought the matter before the association was that of Leo Darr, the youth who is now in the Adams County jail, charged with the larceny of clothing from a member of his own family. The boy is declared to be unusually difficult to handle and the view was expressed at Friday evening's meeting that there might be some mental trouble which could be corrected with the proper treatment and better surroundings. The placing of the boy in a reformatory, one member declared, would simply fit him for a penitentiary sentence later on. An effort will be made to interest the Court in the proposition and, in the future, it is the plan that the officers of the Parent Teachers' Association shall make special efforts to look after boys who have gotten beyond parental and school control.

The principal address of the evening was made by Dr. J. A. Singmaster who made a plea for the instruction in the principles of peace in the public schools of to-day. He pointed out the great cost of war both in lives and in money and told of the wonderful results that could be obtained if the same money were used for other purposes. He urged the supplying of literature on peace in all the schools and said that it should be the desire of every child to see the day when both war and the liquor traffic are abolished.

The visiting committee reported everything highly satisfactory in their rounds of the schools. Four new members were added to the list and the banner for the school having the largest number of parents in attendance was awarded to the Eighth Grade, Miss Lizzie Rummel teacher, with thirteen parents present.

The entertainment part of the program consisted of music by the High School orchestra and two selections by a double male quartet. Mrs. H. T. Weaver, Rev. L. Dow Ott and Miss Mary Benner were appointed as the program committee for the next meeting.

The visiting committee for the next month consists of Mrs. Robert C. Miller, Mrs. Horace Crouse, Mrs. Reuben Fissel, Mrs. Samuel Spangler, Mrs. Price Oyler, Mrs. H. B. Sefton and Mrs. Milton Remmel.

GROFT—GEETING

Married at Same Hour as Bride's Parents 35 Years ago.

Miss Annie Geeting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Geeting, and Abraham Groft, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Groft, all of Silver Run, were quietly married at the Lutheran parsonage, Silver Run, January 5, at 6 o'clock, a. m., the date and time of the bride's parents' marriage, just 35 years ago. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Luther Hoffman, pastor of both bride and bridegroom. The bride was dressed in a blue cloth traveling suit. Immediately after the ceremony they left for a two weeks' trip to Fairfield, Abbottstown, Baltimore and other points.

DEATH IN TOWN FROM DIPHTHERIA

Little Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Dougherty Died at her Home after a Brief Illness. Deaths of Well Known People.

HELEN DOUGHERTY

Helen Dougherty, the seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Dougherty, of Baltimore street, died about nine o'clock this morning from diphtheritic croup.

The little girl had been ill only a short time and her condition was found to be serious scarcely an hour before her death. She was an exceptionally bright little child, a general favorite among her playmates and the people of the portion of town in which she lived, so that her death was particularly sad. She was a pupil in the school taught by Miss Sachs, where a number of other cases have appeared in past months.

She leaves her parents, a brother and a sister.
Funeral Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

GENERAL BUCKNER

General Simon B. Buckner, last surviving lieutenant general of the Confederate Army, died at his home near Munfordville, Kentucky, Thursday night in his ninety first year.

It was to Buckner that the hitherto almost unnoticed General U. S. Grant sent a message that rang like a clarion note through the North, "No terms except unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works." It was Buckner who, bowing to the inevitable, surrendered Fort Donelson and the remnant of his command on February 16, 1862.

He might have escaped capture as his two superior officers, Floyd and Pillow, did by sneaking away in the night. But he thought it was his duty to stay with his men and share their fate, even though that fate was unconditional surrender. His subsequent career was honorable and distinguished. It included a term as Governor of Kentucky and his candidacy for Vice-President of the United States on the Palmer and Buckner ticket in 1896.

Lieutenant Simon B. Buckner, son of the late General Buckner, is well known to a number of Gettysburg people. During the veterans' reunion last July Major Normoyle, who was assigned to lay out the great camp, was assisted in his work by Lieutenant Buckner, who is now stationed with his regiment, Fifth United States Infantry, at Fort Thomas, Kentucky. During the reunion week, Lieutenant Buckner and Lieutenant Saunders had charge of the newspapermen's camp on the field.

ISAAC FISHER

Isaac Fisher one of the most prominent business men of Frederick County, died in Emmitsburg in Dr. B. I. Jamison's private hospital, Monday morning from Bright's disease, aged 61 years, 11 months and 24 days.

Mr. Fisher was at one time tax collector for Frederick county, this being more than 25 years ago, and at a time when the collector of taxes was appointed by the Board of County Commissioners.

Mr. Fisher for many years conducted a hay, grain and feed business at Motter's and Rocky Ridge, and also a general store business. He was regarded as one of the heaviest shippers of the county.

Mr. Fisher was an active member of the Lutheran Church at Rocky Ridge and is survived by one son, William F. Fisher, also of Motter's.

The funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Lutheran Church at Rocky Ridge. Interment in the cemetery adjoining.

MRS. MARY A. DEVINE

Mrs. Mary Ann Devine, died at the home of her son, James, in Fairfield on Monday, of pneumonia at the age of 91 years, 5 months and 20 days.

Mrs. Devine was twice married, first to Mr. Bishop by which union two sons survive, Samuel and James Bishop, of Fairfield. Her second husband was Barney Devine.

The funeral was held on Thursday with services in the Reformed church at 10 o'clock. Interment in Union Cemetery. The pall bearers were Emanuel E. King, Calvin P. Bream, Christian Frey and J. M. Weikert.

TO PUT WOMAN IN AN ASYLUM

Emmitsburg Woman who Threw baby out of Window is Found to be Mentally Deranged and will be Placed in Insane Asylum.

Miss May Bailey, of near Emmitsburg, who threw her two weeks' old niece from the third story window of a Baltimore house, is to be placed in an insane asylum. The child's clothing caught on a nail and held her suspended until she was rescued.

Miss Bailey, who had been visiting her sister in Baltimore for about seven weeks, was taken to her home near Emmitsburg by her brother-in-law, acting upon advice of a Baltimore physician, and it is stated that since being home she has been suffering with acute mania. Dr. B. I. Jamison and Dr. J. B. Brawner, of Emmitsburg, who attended her, found her in a raving condition, four men holding her at the time they entered the house.

It is said that the cause of Miss Bailey's derangement was the fact that she witnessed a street car accident in Baltimore in which two men were killed, and since that time she has been in an unsteady state of mind. Since being at her home near Emmitsburg, she has made attempts to jump out of the windows, and one time succeeded in breaking out a window. Miss Bailey, who is about 20 years of age, was possessed of a sound mind up to the time that she witnessed the accident, but since that time has not been in possession of her mental faculties. On Thursday Drs. B. I. Jamison and J. W. Brawner, of Emmitsburg, adjudged Miss Bailey to be insane and papers will be prepared to have her committed to the Springfield Hospital for the Insane at Sykesville.

Up to the present time no action has been taken by the Baltimore police in the matter, and after Miss Bailey's sad condition is learned, it is probable that no effort will be made to prosecute her.

LAUDS STATE'S APPLES

Pennsylvania Apples are as Good as the Best.

"Pennsylvania apples are as good as any raised anywhere in the United States," said State Economic Zoologist Surface while discussing the exceptionally good crop of apples raised in this State last year.

"While in Ohio recently," continued Prof. Surface, "I met a gentleman who was enthusiastic in praising the apples raised in Pennsylvania, and he said he was but one of many Ohioans of the same way of thinking. That Ohio gentleman told me that so convinced was he of the superiority of Pennsylvania apples that he has made arrangements to purchase a farm near Tyrone, in the Juniata valley, and go in for apple culture as a business proposition. He said he can raise a superior grade of apples on his new farm, pack them and ship them to Ohio, paying all freight, and make money and give better satisfaction than he could with apples raised in Ohio. He has an apple orchard on his Ohio farm now, but he can't begin to raise the superior fruit that Pennsylvania apple orchards produce. In appearance, flavor, soundness—in fact, in every particular—the Pennsylvania apple is the best to be found."

JUST IN TIME

Rural Mail Carrier Arrives in Time to Save House.

But for the timely arrival of Rural Carrier Frank M. Moore Wednesday of this week the farm house of D. S. Frey in Liberty township, tenanted by Harvey Walter, might have been destroyed by fire. On his approaching the place Mr. Moore noticed large volumes of smoke pouring from the chimney, and upon investigation it was found that the stove pipe and chimney were afire, the pipe about ready to collapse. By throwing salt in the stove the fire was smothered. While the carrier was examining the upper part of the house to see that all danger was over, his horse took leave and started up the road at a fast pace. Fortunately John Pecher stopped the runaway after he had gone a good half mile, no damage being done to team or mail.

Red Tape Holds Up Game Commission Money.

Because funds coming in from the hunters' license cannot be touched by the State Game Commission until it is specifically appropriated by the legislature, many of the propositions the commission considered at its annual meeting had to be postponed as they involved the expenditure of money. So far over $180,000 has been turned in at the State Treasury from this source.

Dr. C. B. Penrose, of Philadelphia, was re-elected chairman of the commission and Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, Harrisburg, secretary. Dr. Kalbfus' annual report makes no recommendations for legislation.

ELOPERS FIGHT WHITE SLAVE LAW

Delilah Bradley Tells of Love
For Joel Foster.

WON'T TESTIFY AGAINST HIM

Society Hostesses in Mobile, Ala.,
Were Shocked to Learn Their Guests
Were Not Man and Wife.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 10.—Shocked as society was to learn that the "Mr. and Mrs. Foster" it had entertained lavishly were a girl stenographer and her married employer, it was even more agitated to learn the more startling details of the romance.

With Joel M. Foster, forty-two years old and wealthy, held for an alleged violation of the Mann white slave act, and Miss Delilah Bradley, seventeen years old and pretty, under guard in her fashionable hotel as a material witness, many a fashionable hostess in Mobile fears she may have to appear when Foster is brought to trial.

When Foster and Miss Bradley arrived in Mobile his evident wealth and the girl's good looks and refined manners completely clouded any suspicion they were not desirable acquisitions to the city's society.

With the arrest of Foster for a technical violation of the white slave law, the story of their elopement from Pemberton, N. J., came out.

After his arrest both Foster and the girl admitted that they were not married, but intended to be as soon as the man could be divorced. Both have so far maintained a defiant attitude.

Reports that neighbors of the girl's parents in Pemberton had made a threat to tar and feather Foster when he returned to that town did not seem to disturb him, and the girl declared she would stand by him no matter what happened.

While Foster is out under $2000 bail until Jan. 14, the date of the first hearing, the girl is under guard at the fashionable Cawthorne Inn under $500 bail as a material witness. She has repeatedly refused to say she was unduly influenced to elope from her home.

"I loved Mr. Foster the first time I saw him," she said, "and I knew just as soon he loved me. I was happy when I was with him and utterly miserable when I was away from him. Even in my home I was longing to be with him. We couldn't live as we were in Jersey, so we ran away. He has been loving and kind and I shall remain loyal to him no matter what happens." She says she will not testify against Foster.

Foster has retained two of the best lawyers in Mobile and will make a determined fight. He maintains that the Mann act applies only to so-called "white slaves," and that as he eloped with Miss Bradley, simply because he loved her and without any attempt to profit from his acts, it is improper to accuse him under any such law.

It is said he will test the power of government agents to arrest any man under the Mann law unless they can prove the suspect is actually a "white slave."

Foster and Miss Bradley eloped from Pemberton early in December, where the girl was Foster's stenographer. He was the general manager of one of the largest chicken farms in the world there, and his father is the head of the Scranton, Pa., correspondence schools.

Mrs. Foster in Scranton.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Foster, wife of Joel M. Foster, arrested in Mobile, Ala., is in Scranton. Neither she nor the father of Mr. Foster have any statement to make concerning the trouble in which the husband and son is involved.

KILLS TEACHER AND HIMSELF

John Spooner, Senator's Nephew, a Murderer and Suicide.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 10.—In the presence of a score of terrified kindergarten pupils in a school building, John C. Spooner, nephew of former United States Senator John C. Spooner, and an insurance agent, shot Miss McConnell, the teacher, dead, and then killed himself.

Spooner, although married, was long infatuated with Miss McConnell and killed her because she would not elope with him. She was a member of a prominent family of Madison and had been a teacher in the public schools fourteen years. Spooner had been drinking heavily for several weeks.

Three Dead From Gas.

Long Beach, N. J., Jan. 10.—When the wholesale fruit store of Peter Maroulis remained closed the attention of Henry K. Emmons, a policeman, was attracted by the small dealers about it. He made an investigation, Maroulis and his two young nephews were dead in bed from illuminating gas. The coroner decided the deaths were accidental.

CHILDREN CHEER WILSON

Confederate Veteran's Son Gives Him
Candy and Flowers.

Pass Christian, Miss., Jan. 10.—President Wilson fraternized with his friends, the school children, again. He journeyed along the shell road eastward from Pass Christian toward Biloxi, so that the youngsters could see what a president looks like. They lined the road, waved banners and flags and gave him a royal reception. The president sat uncovered through the review and told Representative Harrison that he was prouder of the children's homage than of any other honor.

The trip was picturesque, and not the least of the picture was furnished by eleven-year-old Cecil Brown, son of a Confederate veteran. When the president visited school children at Long Beach he met Cecil. Garbed in Confederate gray, the lad gave him a box of candy his mother had made, with which he enclosed a note in his own handwriting, wishing the president a speedy return to health.

Secretary Swann acknowledged the note, which the president signed. The boy held up the president again, presenting him with a bouquet of flowers. Attached was a note:

"I liked your letter so much that I have brought you these flowers. Won't you please write me when you get back home?"

The president hopes to become a good correspondent with Cecil.

FOUR DROWNED IN NAVY LAUNCH

Members of Crew of Battleship
Wyoming Lost.

Washington, Jan. 10.—One man was drowned and three others are missing from the capsizing of a launch of the battleship Wyoming in Hampton Roads, according to wireless dispatches to the navy department.

One body was recovered, that of Ole Cornelius Olsen, boatswain's mate, first class. Admiral Badger's dispatch was as follows:

"Ole Cornelius Olsen, boatswain's mate, first class, drowned by capsizing of boat. Body recovered. Three men are missing. Will send names and particulars when fully ascertained. Boat that was capsized was taking wheelbarrows from Wyoming to Proteus. There was fresh breeze and short choppy sea."

When the craft got two miles off Old Point Comfort and a half-mile from the Wyoming she struck unusually heavy seas and began to take in water. She was carrying a heavy load and soon upset after getting into a trough of the sea and becoming unmanageable.

T. H. Quinn, another sailor, carried away by the strong tide, was taken from a buoy six miles out in lower Chesapeake bay. Quinn was clinging to the buoy, all but exhausted, when picked up and was hurridly into Hampton Roads.

19 ARRESTS IN VICE CRUSADE

Men and Women Caught in Police Dragnet in Salisbury.

MAYOR STARTS TO CLEAN UP

Rev. M. L. Starke, an Evangelist, Exposes Conditions and Speedy Action Follows.

Salisbury, Md., Jan. 10.—A vice crusade is being conducted in this city, and nineteen men and women were arrested and others will be prosecuted as the result of a statement made by Rev. Morgan Lee Starke, an evangelist and former New York newspaper man, several days ago.

Mr. Starke declared to an audience of more than 600 persons that in all his newspaper work he had never seen such vile conditions as existed in Salisbury; that whisky was being sold in three places, two of which were on Main street; that there were five gambling dens, some of them within a stone's throw of the court house; that he had seen thirty-two women and girls on the main streets shamelessly plying their trade; that there were at least three disorderly houses on Main street, and that women and girls were bought and sold right under the eyes of the police and no effort was being made to stop it.

Mayor B. Frank Kennerly, who was in the audience, stated that he would clean up the town if the citizens would get behind him. As a result a committee of 100 men was organized and Detectives Lowery and Taylor, of Baltimore, were engaged to gather evidence, and on the evidence obtained by the detectives six men, charged with running gambling dens, seven men charged with gambling and six women were arrested on the streets on warrants sworn out by the mayor and city council.

When they were brought before Magistrate Covington and prosecuted by the city solicitors, L. Atwood Bennett and Hubert Lewis, the state's attorney, George W. Bell, interfered and refused to allow the cases to be tried by the city solicitors.

The matter was referred to Judge Stanford for action while the attorney general and the cases proceeded, with the city solicitors prosecuting in the presence of Mr. Bell.

The six women were taken before the court. Justice Covington fined Mary Gillett and Annie and Grace Bacon $25 and costs each. All of them took an appeal. Helen Holland and Blanche Hudson were discharged for lack of evidence, and Bertie Gillett's case was postponed.

All the men who were arrested were discharged by State's Attorney Bell, and the citizens, becoming angry over the way in which Mr. Bell disposed of the cases, have called a meeting which will be held in the city hall to devise a way in which to help the mayor in his crusade against vice.

HEARING ON PASS QUESTION

Public Service Board Sets Jan. 20 as the Date.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 10.—The public service commissioners announced that they will hold a public hearing before acting on the questions whether the public service company law prohibits the issuance of passes to families of railroad employees, reduced rates to clergymen and others and free service of any kind. Tuesday, Jan. 20, was set for the hearing.

The commissioners say that the whole subject of free service will be considered at that time, and persons who have made requests for rulings will be given opportunity to present their views.

TWO FAMILIES MURDERED

Eleven Persons Slain in Two German Cities by Parents.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—Two crimes of violence, involving the death of eleven persons, were committed in Soldau and Hamburg.

At Soldau an entire family, consisting of a man and his wife, with their five children, were found in their house with their throats cut and the gas turned on. Pecuniary difficulties are supposed to have driven the parents to kill the children and then commit suicide.

At Hamburg a city policeman killed his three daughters and then himself after a family quarrel.

Dyeing Their Hair Red in Paris.

New York, Jan. 10.—"Paris is red-headed," remarked Charles Kurzman, an importer, who returned on the Lusitania. "That is to say, comparatively speaking. What I mean is that Parisian ladies have taken up the fad of dyeing their hair brick red. They have turned against all other shades apparently, and just to make a contrast many of them are wearing green side combs."

Eugene Grace Dying in Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 10.—Eugene Grace, who was shot a year ago by his wife, Mrs. Daisy Ogle Grace, of Philadelphia, is said to be dying in his mother's home at Newman, Ga. Mrs. Grace was tried for the shooting and was acquitted. She returned to Philadelphia, where she obtained a divorce.

CHARLES W. MORSE.
Banker Who Served Time to Add Chapter to Life's Drama.

Charles W. Morse, the former "Ice King," one of the most spectacular figures in modern American finance and the principal actor in a drama that lasted for a half dozen years and carried him from the banking circle of New York to the Atlanta penitentiary, is about to write another chapter to his story. After months of patient investigation and labor Morse is trying to launch an investigation by a congressional committee of all the circumstances which led up to his conviction six years ago, of violation of the national banking laws. Although his plans have not been announced, it became known in Washington that he also contemplates suit for damages against prominent New York bankers and other persons connected with his trial and conviction.

LIKES PRISON LIFE; DISREGARDS PARDON

Freed Dec. 21 He Remains in the Penitentiary.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10.—Matthew Jones, a murderer and convict, has become so attached to his grim cell in the Maryland penitentiary that the pardon of Governor Goldsborough lies untouched in his possession.

The state authorities are at a loss to know what to do with the man, and Jones himself is a self-directed inmate of the big penal institution.

Jones was pardoned by the governor on Dec. 21 as a Christmas present for good behavior during the fifteen years he spent inside the walls for a murder committed in Cumberland. The pardon was placed in his hands in the midst of the Christmas season, but Jones laid it aside and went on with his work.

"I cannot leave you in a hole or Christmas," the prisoner said confidently to Warden Leonard. "I'm going to stay here and help you out. There'll be an awful rush here on Christmas day and I want to do something to show my appreciation of your treatment."

Warden Leonard, surprised at the request, complied with it, and Matthew Jones, pardoned criminal, with the prospect of freedom before him remained behind the grim walls where he had spent so many years.

TO PENSION WORKERS

Pullman Company Expects to Expend $250,000 Annually in Plan.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—The Pullman company announced the inauguration of a pension plan for its 33,000 employees in the manufacturing and operating departments.

Workers will be retired at the age of sixty, and those who have been in the service for twenty years or more will be pensioned at the rate of 1 per cent of their last monthly pay for every year of their employment.

An employee who has been in the service for twenty years will thus draw 20 per cent of his average salary for the last year as a pension. The pension system will cost the Pullman company about $250,000 annually it is estimated.

Seek Local Option Bill.

Oakland, Md., Jan. 10.—It is assured that a bill will be introduced in the Maryland legislature at the present session asking for the privilege of voting on county wide local option. Senator Specht, who was elected on a straight local option platform, will introduce a bill early in the session.

Former Slave Dead at 105.

Altoona, Pa., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Chaney Tillman is dead here, aged 105 years. She was born a slave near Culpeper, Courthouse, Va. Her last master was Colonel Ottaway Carter, who freed her and all his slaves in 1858.

Three Dead in Train Wreck.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 10.—A dispatch from Cordele says that three persons are reported to have been killed in a wreck on the Georgia Southern-Florida railroad near that place. The dispatch adds that twenty-five persons were injured, some fatally.

MONSIGNOR SETON

Archbishop of Heliopolis, Will Reside at Mount St. Mary's College.

For the first time in the history of the Catholic archdiocese of Baltimore, it is to have two archbishops of the Catholic church residing within its borders. They are the Cardinal Bishop of Baltimore, James Gibbons, and the Rt. Rev. Robert Seton, titular Archbishop of Heliopolis, who is coming to this country to make his home near Emmitsburg.

He is an elderly man and plans to spend his remaining days in the quietude of Emmitsburg and Mount Saint Mary's College, where he has a host of friends. Cardinal Gibbons is also an intimate acquaintance of the venerable prelate and had much to do with the rise of Mgr. Seton in the hierarchy.

Archbishop Seton is coming to the United States primarily to take part in the golden jubilee celebration of his ordination, which will be held in the near future in Jersey City, N. J.

Archbishop Seton's residence in Emmitsburg will bring him back to the place made famous by his grandmother,
the famous Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, foundress and first superior of the Sisters of Charity in the United States the site of their headquarters being at Emmitsburg. It was in June,
1808, that the community of Sisters
Mrs. Seton had founded in Baltimore moved to Emmitsburg. William Seton, the present Archbishop's father, joined the United States Navy, became a captain and died in 1868. The Archbishop's brother, William Seton, who died in New York in 1905, was a distinguished author, lawyer and Civil War veteran.

GYPSIES BIND GIRL; KIDNAP HER SISTER

Police Seek Three For Abduc- tion and Robbery.

Baltimore, Jan. 10.—While gagged and bound to a bedpost in her home in East Baltimore, Rosie Ranko, aged twelve years, says she saw three men drug and kidnap her seventeen-year-old sister, Tinka Ranko, and steal $1450, her father's savings of a lifetime.

With the girl and the money in their possession, the three men, who, the father says, were Peter, Eli and Spiro de Metro, of Philadelphia, then decamped, leaving the younger girl helpless to give an alarm. Several hours later she was found by her father in an exhausted condition.

This story was told to Police Magistrate Smith, who thereupon issued warrants for the arrest of the men named. All the parties concerned are gypsies, and the affair is reported to have occurred last Tuesday night.

According to the child's story, the men forced Tinka to swallow some liquid which rendered her unconscious in a few minutes.

Failing to find his daughter in the gypsy settlement in Baltimore, the father finally appealed to the police. He said that four members of his tribe had gone to Philadelphia to hunt for the missing girl and her alleged abductors.

EXPLOSION IMPERILS MINERS

Four Badly Burned in Colliery at Moundsville, W. Va.

Moundsville, W. Va., Jan. 10.—An explosion occurred in the First Street mine of the Mound Coal company near this place.

Four men burned were taken to the Glendale hospital. An immense crowd surrounded the mouth of the mine, which is in the village.

A rescue party entered the shaft and discovered that the explosion had been caused when a naked light had come in contact with a pocket of gas in a part where only a few men were employed. The remainder of the 100 miners at work were reported unhurt. Physicians said that the four injured would recover.

Her Escort Jumps to Death.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 10.—Miss Agnes Broughman, eighteen years old, stood helpless with fright while Hugh Malloy, her escort from a dance, turned on her with the remark that he was "tired of life," carefully removed his outer clothing and jumped over the rail of a bridge to death in the Monongahela river. The body was not found.

Ends Life in Daughter's Home.
Wilmington, Del., Jan. 10.—William D. Wood, sixty years old, of Rising Sun, shot himself in the head at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Annie Rouse, 231 Walnut street. He died in the Delaware hospital. No cause can be ascribed for the shooting.

PERSONAL GUILT IN SHERMAN LAW

To Punish Magnates For Anti- Trust Violations.

NO INTERLOCKING BOARDS

Administration Bill Said to Prohibit Price Fixing and Ownership of Manufactories by Railroads.

Washington, Jan. 10.—What are said to be the five fundamental provisions of the administration anti-trust bill as framed by a sub-committee of the house judiciary committee were learned from an authoritative source.

These bills will be introduced in the house next week and follow the ideas said to have been outlined in conferences of President Wilson with members of the house committee. The chief provisions of the bills, which may later be whipped into one composite measure, are, according to the informant, as follows:

The theory that guilt is personal and that trust magnates shall be subject to fine and imprisonment is written into the Sherman law. The administration anti-trust program will provide a penal clause for the punishment of officers of corporations found guilty of a violation of the anti-trust laws.

Manufacturers will be forbidden to fix the ultimate price to the consumer of the article manufactured. The bill will contain drastic provisions prohibiting price fixing in restraint of trade, the necessity for this legislation being shown by the supreme court of the United States in the Dick mingeograph decision and the United Shoe Machinery case.

The bills will require that no restraint of trade shall be deemed reasonable. There also will be a definition of what constitutes a restraint of trade and the "rule of reason" written into the Sherman law by the supreme court of the United States, will be set aside.

Interlocking directorates between bankers and industrial corporations will be absolutely prohibited. The law will be made especially drastic concerning the directorate of banks and railroads, and no banker will be permitted to be a director and no railroad director will be allowed to be a director of a bank.

The interlocking directorates provision will go further and provide that a director of an industrial concern cannot be a director in a competing industrial concern, nor shall any banker or railroad director act as a director in an industrial concern in a manner that will restrain competition.

Railroads will be divorced from the control or ownership of manufacturing and other establishments whose output is a commodity transported by the common carrier. In other words, no railroads may own or control a coal mine, steel manufacturing plant or other industries which put out commodities handled or used by the railroads.

The five provisions leave the Sherman law as it now stands and are supplementary thereto. No change with these will be made in the language of the Sherman law, but it will be amended to define competition, to provide punishment for offending trust owners and to break up monopolies. The house sub-committee is opposed to the idea of the creation of an industrial trade commission to fix the prices of manufactured articles, but believe the situation may be met by drastic legislation breaking up the patent monopoly and prohibiting the original seller from fixing the price to the ultimate consumer.

WED DESPITE SMASH-UP

Bridgroom's Mother Injured, But Couple Hasten to Minister and Marry.
Cumberland, Md., Jan. 10.—A taxi cab in which Robert Roy Gerber and Miss Belle Stein, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who, accompanied by Gerber's mother, were on their way to be married by a minister here, was struck by an automobile, owned by Henry J. Glick, of Cumberland, resulting in the injury of Mrs. Gerber.

The bride couple were uninjured, but Mrs. Gerber was cut in the left temple, necessitating treatment at the Allegheny hospital.

The accident did not cause a halt in the plans of the wedding, and the couple, accompanied by the wounded mother, returned to Pittsburgh, all happy notwithstanding the "spill."

In turning the corner at Green and Lee streets the taxicab tore the right wheel and fender off the Glick car, but quick action on the part of the chauffeurs of the taxi and Glick cars prevented serious damage.

Ends Life in Shore Hotel.

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 10.—Clarance Evans, a mill foreman, of Minersville, Pa., ended his life by inhaling gas in a hotel in South Carolina avenue. Evans came here with his mother two weeks ago. He had been ill. Evans was twenty-four years old and unmarried.

Cat Held For Murder.

Bald Mount, Ill., Jan. 10.—Probably for the first time in the history of the country a cat stands accused of murder. The animal is believed to have clawed John Penkins, a hermit, to death.

THE CONTRASTING BODICE OF CHIFFON OR SILK EFFECTIVE AND ECONOMICAL

Feminine to a degree are the simple blouses of net and chiffon that are used on so many of the afternoon and evening frocks. Very often their sole adornment consists of a few tucks or plaits and a narrow band of ribbon outlining the neck and perhaps edging the sleeves. A few rhine-stone or pearl buttons serve to close and to trim them at the same time.

The effective little gown shown in No. 7965 is developed in one of those quaint figured silks which are so reminiscent of grandmother's day and are so becoming to youthful, slender figures. The underblouse of tucked figured net is rendered doubly pleasing by the trimming straps which give the impression of suspenders. Two broad plaits on the front of the skirt afford the necessary drapery.

In size 18 this frock may be copied with 2½ yards of 36 inch material with 2½ yards of 36 inch figured net or silk for the blouse.

Crepe de Chine in cream color with a tiny scarlet ring scattered over the surface is the very effective material used for the other blouse (8067), which is a kimono with a collar slightly draped in Japanese fashion. Two yards of 36 inch material are needed to make this blouse in size 36.

The skirt is a two piece model showing the fashionable "burnous" drape made up in broadcloth in a harmonizing, dull shade of red.

For size 24 2½ yards of 42 inch material will be required to copy this skirt.

Foreman's Gentle Hint.

A gang of laborers was employed digging a mysterious ditch across the street. It was a sewer or a place to put a gas pipe or something. One man in particular was working as if he were a chorus man in a play, just going through the motions and pretending to dig a ditch. The foreman came along and spoke to him. "Don't be afraid," he said, with rich sarcasm. "Lean on th' shovel now an' thin. If it breaks I'll pay for it!"

WINTERING BROOD SOWS.

Alfalfa Hay Furnishes Nutrient For the Unborn Progeny.

A number of years ago we worked out the problem of wintering our brood sows from the time they were bred to farrowing on alfalfa hay, says the editor of Hoard's Dairyman. Previous to that time we had in common with other farmers lost heavily in young pigs. The sows were wintered mainly on corn and house slops, and the pigs were born weak and so lacking in vitality that many of them died. Studying the matter one day, we were convinced that the mothers were not given a sufficient amount of protein to properly nourish those young bodies before birth.

Every pig is a mass of protein, and how will the sow get enough of that element to make those little bodies and endow them with living vigor unless the farmer is wise enough to give it to her? If she were ranging in the forest the mothers and roots would furnish it. But on the farm she is confined to the pen and yard. So to experiment we placed nine brood sows in November upon a ration of alfalfa hay and what drink they needed, which was mostly water.

The foreman of the farm and all the neighbors were sure we were making a mistake. They were certain the sows would fall away in flesh and all that.

The Hampshire breed of hog, known as the Thin Hind, has until recent years been but little known or bred. Formerly it was hard to get a class for these hogs, but as their good qualities became known there has been much demand for them. The Hampshire is a peculiarly marked breed, having a band of white around its fore body. As a bacon hog the Hampshire has won many friends, for on the market it competes favorably with the Tamworth and Yorkshire.

But the sows ate the hay ravenously, largely so, we think, because it was furnishing an element they so much needed in meeting the demands of their unborn progeny. To the surprise of all they kept up in flesh and, indeed, made some gain. During the coldest of weather they were given an ear of corn apiece to help furnish bodily heat.

When farrowing time came the nine sows had eighty-three pigs, with not a weakling or titman among them. All lived but three, which were killed by the mothers lying upon them. We fattened and sold the eighty pigs. There was a vigor about them from birth up that told how well they had been nourished while the mother was carrying them. Since that time we have followed this practice every winter with our brood sows and have seen no reason for discontinuing it. There is something about alfalfa that is a great body builder.

MISSION FOR THE ANTIQUARY

Discovery Made in Cairn in Scotland Has Been Something of a Puzzle So Far.

An interesting discovery has been made in the wild and mountainous pass of Drumochter, Scotland, some three miles to the south of Dalwhinnie, where Glasgow contractors are carrying on operations for the improvement of roads. The stones in a large cairn close by the Great North Road, between Perth and Inverness, were being utilized for road metalling purposes, and while engaged in removing these stones the workmen came upon a well-preserved human skeleton. The skeleton was found close to the outer edge of the cairn, which is some fifty feet in circumference, and of considerable height. Further operations revealed a stone cist or coffin in the center of the cairn. There was apparently no connection between the skeleton and the cist. In view of its exposed position and excellent state of preservation the interment of the skeleton must have taken place in comparatively recent times. Its only covering consisted of about a foot of loose stones. The cist was formed of a large rough slab supported by rows of upright stones, suggestive of Pictish origin. How it came to be in the center of the cairn is not easily explained. The cairn itself is said to have been placed there to commemorate a halt made by the Highland army in 1746. The Pass of Drumochter is notable in Jacobite annals by reason of the fact that Sir John Cope held a council of war in the neighborhood in August, 1745. Lord George Murray successfully made a series of attacks on posts held by the royalist army in the neighborhood of Drumochter, so that the cairn may have been erected to commemorate some such event.

The Dog's Mistake.

George West Salisbury, at a Sulzer rally in Cohoes, likened Governor Sulzer to the cat of the essay.

"A schoolboy," said Professor Salisbury, "wrote an essay on the dog and cat, and in this essay I'd call Sulzer the feline, and Murphy the canine."

He then read the essay, which ran: "If there's no trees just near the dog gets the cat in the corner of a door or two brick walls. Then the cat makes her body twice as big as what is flesh and bone by standing her hairs up strate, and she spits and sneezes all over the dog, so he can't see what he's doing. Then while he's clearin' his eyes a bit she scratches him in the nose, which you know, of all parts of the dog's flesh, its nose has got the littles skin over it. You might say there's no skin, only a bit of meat. The dog feels just as if he was caught with a fishing hook, and he runs right away a-thinking to himself as he thought the cat was a little one when he see it in the yard."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Those Tickling Plumes.

Those of us who have suffered—and who has not?—from the tickling of the plumes which women will insist on wearing, stuck at ridiculous angles in their hats, must needs feel much sympathy with the late individual who caused a miniature Donnybrook in an omnibus by endeavoring to pluck one of these "inconceivable" turtle-doves. Probably his assault was not deliberate. When a foot of feather whisks into one's face every half minute, it excites the same kind of reflex action of the muscles as does a fly settling on one's nose. Man's costume may be as ugly as you please; but it seldom offends anything but the eye. Women, in their personal adornment, are strangely apt to be without the smallest consideration for the comfort or convenience of their neighbors. Men have groaned under the tyranny of the cart wheel hat and fled in terror from the murderous hatpin. Are they about to rebel against the nose-tickler?—Pall Mall Gazette.

Tools for the Boy.

Modern education has scored a distinct advance by training the hands of children as well as their brains. In the schools it is called manual training.

Tools are the indication, as well as the result, of civilization. As a people become enlightened their tools multiply and their expertness with them increase.

The reverence we pay to the skilled use of tools is shown in the higher value we place upon an article that is "hand-made." That term seems to confer a distinction in addition to the assurance of better workmanship.

Every child should be taught to use tools and to keep them in proper condition. It will develop a spirit of self-reliance, a love of achievement and a correct appreciation of the so-called "dignity of labor."

Give the child a kit of tools.—Farm and Ranch.

Some Surprises for the Doctor.

There is a story current about a widely known London doctor. About three o'clock one morning he was rung up by a wealthy patient and begged to come over at once. Turning out of bed he rushed off, expecting to find the man in extremis. Imagine his surprise at being ushered into a dining-room where a gay supper party was assembled. "The first remark made to him was: 'Oh! doctor, I am so glad you have come. We wanted you to settle a bet as to exactly where the diaphragm is.' He not only told them where the diaphragm was, but a good many other things. The patient tried to mollify him by asking his fee. Still furiously angry, he named a staggering one, which, to his surprise, was paid on the spot.

Fully Supplied.
